

Victor Dow Borst

July 23, 1932 - April 1, 2011

Victor D. Borst III, 78, of Princeton, formerly of Flossmoor, IL, died April 1, 2011. He was the beloved husband of Beatrice and loving father of Victor and Bradley. Mr. Borst was born on July 23, 1932 in Ithaca, NY and was raised in Forest Hills, NY. He was a student of the Taft School, Cornell University and the University of Vermont, where he met Beatrice Bombard. They were married September 28, 1957.

Victor later received a Master's Degree in Education and taught mathematics, while coaching girls tennis at Homewood-Flossmoor High School in Flossmoor, IL, until he retired. His abilities as an educator were not limited to the high school classroom. Mr. Borst also taught Flight School to the cadets of the Civil Air Patrol, where he was a pilot and held the rank of Captain for this USAF Auxiliary. Victor's interest in aviation was paralleled by an avid interest in Astronomy and photography. He was also an active member of his church, the Open Prairie United Church of Christ.

Victor was preceded in death by his one sibling, Evelyn Cash of Lubbock, Texas. He is survived by his wife, two sons, and granddaughters: Jessica, Lauren and Allison.

A private service will be held for Mr. Borst in the Summer's Chapel at Oakland Cemetery on Saturday, April 9, 2011. Burial will immediately follow in the cemetery.
